Tennessee Marble.

Scientific American: Mr. John J. Craig, o Knoxville, Tennessee, says that the Unite States Government is now working success

States Government is now working successfully a quarry of white stone in the immediate vicinity of that city, which is pronounced by competent judges to be superior to anything of the kind found elsewhere in the United States for building and all outdoor purposes. It is a highly crystalized limestone marble, and as it comes from the hammer or chisel is almost perfectly white; when polished it shows a faint pinkish blush, most delicate and beautiful; long exposure to the atmosphere seems to whiten and harden it; a sort of glass-like enamel formed over its surface and rendering it almost impervious to face and rendering it almost impervious t dampness and stains of any kind. A col umn of this marble, which has been standing in Knoxville more than thirty years, and which has never been touched with brush or soap, is as white and clean to-day as it was the day it was first exposed to the storms and sunshine of our fickle climate. The texture and working quality of the marble is unsurpassed. It is neither too hard nor too soft, but exactly soft enough to allow the scalator to work it without force and to the sculptor to work it without force and to trace on it the finest lines of finished form, and yet hard enough to retain these lines in all their original delicacy, unimpaired by wind or rain for generations to come. The quantity of the marble is unlimited. Knoxille is surrounded by whole mountains of it

Facilities for transportation are now good and daily growing better. Car-loads are being daily shipped to all sections of the country, and the absence of capital alone prevents the quarrying of it from soon developing into one of the most important industries in that singularly favored but yet almost unknown section.

THE NEW SENATE, No. 8 Adams street, neat and elegantly fitted up beer hall, will be opened at 10 o'clock this morning with a fine lunch. Everybody is invited.

PAID UP CAPITAL, : : : : $150,000 Yesterday afternoon at the Criminal Court the negro murderer Bill Rivers, who cut and stabbed to death the unfortunate negro woman Margaret Washington, in the alley on Gayoto street, between Main and Second, was sentenced by Judge Horrigan to be hung on Friday, the 19th of August. The jury hearing the case some days since found Rivers guilty of murder in the first degree, but, in order to place the responsibility of hanging somewhere else, recommended Rivers to the mercy of the Court. Judge Horrigan had no recourse but to pass sentence of death on the finding of the jury as to the grade of the homicide. It was an atrocious and cowardly assassination. The poor woman had D. T.
